Therapies for the treatment of Eating Disorders

The NEW CSAB INTEGRATIVE TRAINING PROGRAM is the first of its kind in the country that trains therapists to treat eating disorder patients using a clinical approach that integrates Behavioral and Psychodynamic Psychotherapies. While historically these modalities have been viewed as distinct, this program prepares candidates to interweave evidence-based and dynamic therapies for comprehensive eating disorder treatment. Additionally, the curriculum reflects the most up-to-date theory on the etiology of eating disorders including attachment theory and neurobiology.
